We had a happy St. Patrick's Day down at Arkoe Gulch, as we got to get in the first match of the year this weekend! The weather may have been a bit on the chilly side in the morning, which seems to have scared some people away from joining us, but once the sun came up over the hills it felt pretty nice! Eight shooters joined us for our first match, and Dirty Chris took home the top overall spot, but there was no top Lady shooter, I guess they all stayed warm at home...

The luck of the Irish was not with everyone, but two shooters did manage to shoot clean, Dirty Chris and Longshot Ace. It seemed like many of us were a bit rusty after a long winter of not shooting!

For anyone who didn't make it out to this match, the good news is that March has a fifth Sunday, so that means we'll be shooting again in a couple weeks on the 31st!

A big thank you needs to go out to everyone, but especially Doc Adams for bringing his propane heaters to keep us warm in the morning, and for donating bullets as usual for door prizes. Also to Rifleman Rich who donated some nice door prizes, and to Buck Scott for driving all the way down to help with registration. And of course to all who came to help set up the stages and who stuck around and helped get everything put back away again.

We hope to see you all in a couple weeks!
